Art, Courage & Creativity II "Taking It Further"

This second version of the original workshop hosted by Karen Leeds introduces new activities designed to help novices and experienced artists alike relax, revive and reinvent themselves. We still use rich and colorful oil pastels and paper (and throw in a few delightful twists along the way) to gently free us from beliefs and habits that may be holding us back. All materials are supplied; all you need to do is show up. While there is ample technique taught, the emphasis is on creating truly original art by intuition and on learning to hear, recognize and act upon the inner guidance of your own unique voice. This session encourages abstract exploration but anything goes: portraits, landscapes or whatever emerges. Students often complete artwork suitable for framing. This workshop is appropriate for newcomers and graduates of Karen's other sessions.

BRIO Fine Arts is a wonderful center located on Raintree Drive in the Scottsdale Airpark, easily accessible from the 101 Loop. Check out their other workshop offerings!
